

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A connector and module provide for mating at least two connectors having pinned interfaces. The connectors provide a socket having reliable electrical contact and a pin socket with reliable pin alignment. An interface for multiple input modules with reliable electrical contact and pin alignment is also described. A gimbal feature allows the connector to more easily self-align with mating pin structures.